50 ST. LOUIS MEN VISIT CITY TODAY

BOOSTERS IN SPECIAL TRAIN MAKE HOUR'S STOP.

COME TO MAKE TRADE NOT TO STEAL BUSINESS

Trip Manager Says Representatives of Wholesale Houses and Factories Would Aid Retailer.

Fifty representatives of wholesale dry goods, hats, shoes, furniture, grocery, drugs, electric supplies, clothing millinery and hardware houses and seven of the largest banks of St. Louis arrived here about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on a special trade excursion train. They remained in the city about an hour, then left for other towns on the trade trip, the next stop being at Burlington Junction They were due to arrive there at 3:30 o'clock and remain until 4 o'clock.

The train the St. Louis business men are traveling in is a dandy and well equipped. It was chartered by the Business Men's League of St. Louis for a six days' trip through northern Missouri and southern Iowa. It is in charge of Robert E. Lee, secretary of the salesmanagers' bureau of the league and by Earl D. Eddy, chairman of the trade extension committee of the salesmanagers' bureau.

The train consists of three sleepers, a dining car, a baggage car and a lounging car.

No Retailers on Trip.

Seymour's Military band of ten pieces is accompanying the trade boosters and giving a concert at each stop. The concert here proved to be well given and was much enjoyed by the audience. The party left St. Louis at 7 o'clock yesterday morning and expect to return Saturday night. Forty-two stops will be made. Night stops are scheduled at Chillicothe, and Red Oak, Des Moines, Burlington and Centerville, Ia. They remained at Chillicothe last night and will stop tonight at Red Oak.

The purpose of the excursion is for the heads of the big St. Louis houses to get into close personal touch with the retail merchants of the towns they visit. There are no retailers in the excursion.

"Every man on the train with us is a wholesaler or manufacturer representing dry goods, shoes, hats, clothing, wire rope, banks, etc.," said R. E. Lee, trip manager. "We are not trying to sell anything on this trip, but merely wish to get better acquainted with the merchants. In truth, we are here to try to convince them that St. Louis has some of the best and most energetic and most likeable wholesalers and manufacturers in the world."

A representative of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Globe-Democrat and the Republic accompanies the train. Mr. Lee is representing the Post-Dispatch. One convenience of many provided for the week's trip is the installation of telephones in each coach of the train, so the train manager can call the engineer or any of the tourists at any time. Arrangements also were made by the boosters to provide connections to call St. Louis a twenty stops on the trip.

Bar Spirituous Liquors.

One other action of the business men was to bar all spirituous liquors from the train before leaving. In fact, they adopted "a buttermilk rule" absolutely. It was first intended to visit southeast and part of southwest Missouri, but later the change to northern Missouri and southern Iowa was decided on.

The St. Louis trade excursionists were met at the Wabash passenger station here by members of the Commercial club in automobiles and escorted uptown, where each member of the party went where he chose. No attempt at entertaining the visitors was made, as each desired to visit such retail merchants as his business affected most. Instead the visitors entertained the hosts with a band concert.

Land City and County.

Many compliments to Maryville and Nodaway county in general were paid by the visitors, and the promise to come again as soon as possible was made. The various merchants and business men were invited to call on the visitors at their St. Louis establishments whenever in that city. All in all, the St. Louis boosters were a jolly bunch of good fellows of the business-like sort.

Among those in the party are:

James A. Houchin, L. K. Wise, Guy N. Hitchcock, James Cunningham, Earl D. Eddy, W. G. Barry, Phil A. Becker, John K. Broderick, Lee Osterhaus, B. B. O'Brien, Richard Taylor, A. H. Kaufman, Charles Reese, Jr., Alex C. Smith, W. H. Spain, A. F. Culkin, George R. Merrill, F. D. Phillips, R. J. Kickiss, Frank Wielandy, W. B. Taylor, Ralph McKittrick, Davis Elsman, Jr., Jesse Carlton, R. D. Corlett, Charles P. Ladd, S. J. Bennett, G. W. Dahlman, Stuart Campbell, A. V. Meyer, G. C. Martin, Jr., Robert E. Lee, Louis W. Fasterlin, Harry Block, H. S. Tuttle, Sam Young, William H. Pape, A. W. Gray, W. H. Bloomer, George E. Cullinan, J. H. Robinson, Edward Tracy, W. H. Ball, Carl H. Schlapp, E. W. Purcell and Harry Fellows.

BELIEVE WABASH CAN'T BLOCK FIFTH STREET WORK.

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE

A special meeting of the city council street committee, consisting of Councilmen M. A. Peery, Bert Raines and Ed Dragoo, will be held in the office of the Sisson Loan and Title company at 7:30 o'clock tonight, to examine the various paving remonstrances and decide what action to take relative to that proposition at the special council meeting tomorrow night. The conference will be solely to discuss paving.

That the statement of the Wabash railroad that the Fifth street crossing at Dunn street is private property of the railroad company was without proof is the consensus of opinion of the councilmen now. An investigation conducted by Mr. Peery and City Engineer F. L. Flynt has disclosed that records show Fifth street crossing to have been a public one in 1875, when that street was laid out, and that the Wabash did not extend its switch tracks along there until five years later, or in 1880.

May Pave 4 Streets.

No further records show that any transfer was made, it is said. If this be true, then Fifth street from Market street west six blocks to Dunn street may be paved.

Ninth, from Mulberry west to the Normal grounds, also is in line for paving. Appearances also indicate that Thompson street from Walnut east four blocks to Main street, and Mulberry street from Ninth to Twelfth also can be paved over the remonstrances. A remonstrance was circulated on each of these streets, and a great quantity of names signed thereto, but an investigation has disclosed that many did not have any right to sign the remonstrances, it is said.

The matter of appointing a city clerk and another fireman also will come up for consideration at tomorrom night's session.

ALLIES ARE MOVING FORWARD.

German Headquarters Admits That Enemy Makes Gain.

London, May 11.—In the land campaign in France and Belgium there are intimations of a strong movement of the allies against the Germans with heavy reinforcements. The French war office reports the capture of many prisoners and guns during the last two days and German headquarters admit that in the neighborhood of Carency the allies have succeeded in occupying the foremost German trenches. The attacks and counter attacks are continuous and the losses on both sides are heavy.

In the Carpathians the Germans are reported to be making preparations for a further movement against the Russians in their new positions.

While all advices indicate that Italy is ready to take decisive action and that the time limit fixed for Austria's reply to the Italian demands has expired, no word has come of a break between the Austrian and Italian governments.

WAS NOT INFERNAL MACHINE.

A. A. Wiley Finds Government Weather Gauger on Farm—Drifted from Omaha.

A queer looking contraption, similar to the balloons that flew at the county fairs years ago, was found at the south end of his farm yesterday by A. A. Wiley, a farmer living seven miles northwest of Maryville. It had been sent out by the government weather observers at Omaha, the label stated. Mr. Wiley sent the balloon to Washington yesterday afternoon as instructed.

It consisted of a small basket, containing the weather gauging apparatus, a rubber bag for containing the air, and yards and yards of fine cord holding the balloon bag and basket together. It had been sent from Omaha Saturday and evidently had alighted on the Wiley farm yesterday morning.

WILSON FOR PEACE

UNITED STATES IS ABOVE WAR, PRESIDENT HINTS.

BE EXAMPLE TO NATIONS

Such Thing as Being So Right Force is Not Needed to Make It Clear, Executive Says.

Philadelphia, May 11.—President Wilson delivered an address here to a reception tendered 4,000 newly naturalized citizens.

The station was densely crowded when the president arrived. As he passed along the guard of police cheers went up from the assembled crowd. Mr. Wilson acknowledge them with smiles. He was escorted up Broad street by the mounted city troops of Philadelphia.

The street was lined with automobile loads of people, who shouted a noisy welcome. Thousands of people lined the walks. The handclapping and cheering were almost constant. Women waved handkerchiefs from the windows and balconies and everywhere the reception given the nation's chief magistrate was one of enthusiasm and warmth. He bowed, raised his hat and smiled gratefully.

When the president reached Convention hall, he was escorted to a seat by Mayor Blankenburg. He found Secretaries Wilson and Daniels on the platform. The hall was densely packed.

A sudden, spontaneous outburst of applause greeted the president when he arose to speak. Everyone present leaped up, waving American flags. Waves of cheers broke over the hall, rising and falling. He bowed time and again, smiling his acknowledgment of his reception. As he rose, the band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

President Wilson, in his address, gave the first intimation of what course the United States government will pursue in the situation resulting from the loss of more than a hundred lives on the British liner Lusitania.

He spoke by implication, but his hearers interpreted his remarks as meaning that while the United States would remain at peace, it would seek to convince Germany of the injustice to mankind of the tragedy of Friday.

Example of Peace.

"America," said the president, "must have the consciousness that on all sides it touches elbows and touches hearts with all nations of mankind. The example of America must be a special example, not merely of peace, because it will not fight, but because peace is a healing and elevating influence in the world and strife is not.

"There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right."

Those remarks precipitated a tumult of applause and patriotic enthusiasm, attended by a waving of thousands of small American flags. The president made no direct reference to the Lusitania tragedy, but the audience did not hesitate to read the application of his statement.

The sentiment expressed in the president's speech was epitomized later by one of his closest advisers as "humanity first." While it had not yet been determined, he said, exactly what steps would be taken by the United States in the present crisis the idea uppermost in the president's mind was to show that whatever course is adopted—no matter how vigorous—it will have as its objective the good of humanity.

Iowa Visitors Return.

WON'T TAKE TOWNSHIP OFFICE.

Mark Loucks, Skidmore, Wants Someone to Be Justice of the Peace.

To have the position of justice of the peace thrust upon one and then to deliberately turn around and try to get someone to take it off one's hands seems like fiction, but such is the case in Monroe township. A petition signed by seven citizens of Skidmore, among them being Mark Loucks, was presented today to County Clerk Fred Yeomans, asking the county court to appoint someone to take Loucks' place as justice of Monroe township.

Stratford Saunders and Loucks were elected to that office March 30. Saunders qualified but Loucks did not. So now the petitioners want the court to appoint Henry Miller in Loucks' place. Miller and John Mast were formerly justices of that township.

The county court will probably consider the petition when it meets again, May 17.

Dr. Seafers Here.

Dr. C. F. Seafers of Port Arthur, Texas, arrived in the city last night to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Seafers, for a couple of weeks.

Six hundred and nine persons have become members of one of the five Protestant churches of Maryville since January 1, as a result of the revivals each church has held, in that time, or otherwise, according to statistics furnished today by the pastors of the various churches. Of that number 503 resulted directly from the evangelistic campaigns.

In addition to this great work accomplished by religious campaigns carried on within the last four and one-half months, several hundred more promised to lead better lives and aid more in church and all religious work in the city. Besides increasing the church membership and thereby directly strengthening the various denominations here, the police records show crime in the city has decreased since January 1, and the general upbuilding of the morality of the city has been noticeable since that time.

All Praise Religious Work.

City and county officials, almost as one, praise the religious work that has been carried on here, while business men, are virtually combined in a commendation of the movements. While the exact benefit accomplished by the revivals, can not be more than estimated, the following figures are furnished by the various Protestant pastors, to show how it has aided the church membership:

First Baptist—Professions of conversion, 385; membership resulting, 300; membership increase since then, 20; evangelist, A. E. Burch. Time of revival, six weeks, during January and first half of February.

Buchanan Street Methodist—Conversions, 8; addition to membership as result of revival, 14; additions since then, 7; evangelist, W. B. Lewellyn. Time of revival, two weeks, in January.

First Christian—Conversions, estimated at 110; members added as result of revival, 116; total number of members added since January; 130; evangelist, Charles Finch. Time, one month, in March.

First Methodists Added 103.

First Presbyterian—Conversions, 15; added members as result of revival, 20; total added since January 1, 35; evangelist, S. D. Harkness, pastor. Time, ten days, in March and April.

First Mehodist—Conversions, 104; members added as result of revival, 53; total added since January 1, 103; evangelist, Thurston B. Price. Time three weeks, in last half of April and first of May. First Methodist revival also resulted in three expressing a desire to become affiliated with the First Christian church, three with the Buchanan Street Mehodist church and four with the First Baptist church.

Evangelist Price and singer, C. N. Guice received $656 for their three weeks work through subscriptions made by church members and others during the closing of the revival.

CARE OF NEW HATCHED CHICKS.

Agricultural Station Advises More Study for Young Poultry.

"Millions of chickens are lost each year because of improper methods of feeding, says H. L. Kempster of the Missouri agricultural experiment station. Some of this loss can be prevented by using the plan of raising chicks which has been worked out by the poultry department of the University of Missouri," He says.

"Chicks should not be fed until they are 48 hours old and then should receive nothing but fine, white grit. This stimulates the digestive organs and prepares them for food which is to follow. The next feeding should be a mixture of three parts finely cracked wheat, three parts finely cracked corn and one part steel cut oats, fed dry.

"Some of this mixture or commercial chick food should be in the litter at all times so as to encourage the chicks to exercise.

"Twice daily the chicks should receive rolled oats or a mixture of three parts bread crumbs, three parts corn bread and one part boiled egg. This mixture may be fed dry, or it may be slightly dampened with sour milk. Young chicks should always have access to clean drinking water or, if possible, some skim milk or buttermilk. These should be kept in a vessel so constructed that the chicks cannot get themselves wet.

HITTING the TRAIL of TRUTH

Sometimes the hardest thing to put over is Truth. An evil condition which has been hanging around for a long, long time grows familiar and is embraced as an old friend, while it should be taken by the scruff of the neck and the slack of the pants and kicked down the back stairs.

Dime novels have seen their best days. Book dealers a few years ago sold hundreds weekly, but now few are called for. Moving pictures, it is claimed, are responsible.

Russian peasant women have on an average from six to twelve children, of whom about half survive.

PROF. ADAMS TO GUILFORD.

School Board Elects Principal—Grammar Teacher to Be Supplied.

Prof. E. R. Adams has been chosen principal of the Guilford schools for the coming year. The appointment was made at a meeting of the school board held last night. The place of grammar teacher is yet to be supplied.

Miss Florence Skidmore, primary, and Miss Mabel Carver, intermediate teachers, were re-employed at a meeting of the board held several weeks ago.

MORE FREEDOM FOR MEN.

Edict Permitting "Straws" Before May 15 Issued by Haberdashers of New York.

Another victory for men, right when equal suffrage is gaining its greatest prominence seems unreasonable, though nevertheless it is true. For an edict has come down from on high—in other words from the New York haberdashers—that one may begin wearing them when he feels like it, or at the worst by May 8. So the lid is off, hop under your last summer's headgear any time now.

HOGGING THE CORN PATCH.

Farmers Are Advised to Try Method This Season.

W. D. McKee, the "Alfalfa Bill" of the Farmers' Institutes of the Missouri Board of Agriculture, is best known as an alfalfa missionary. However, he has a dozen lectures based on his experiences as a successful farm owner in Ray county where he and his son profitably practice what he preaches.

Mack (alias "alfalfa bill") is a practical preacher of the doctrine of the "hog-heaven" where all good hogs should go—and that is the path to the early corn patch for hogging down—patch or patches according to how deep you are in the hog game! He holds that the early corn patch is the ideal moving picture entertainment for the king of mortgage lifters.

Mr. McKee believes the present signs point to high prices on corn, at least until the 1915 crop goes onto the market. As legislation provides for an emergency clause, the money-making farmer resorts to practices that help him tide over the high places without having to buy much of the "cat's-back" feeds. He reports on Missouri needs along this line.

"This is a year when the far-sighted farmer will make the most of the possibilities of planting patches of from early to late corn for hogging down.

"Promptly planted 90-day corn (the real thing) will ripen sufficiently early for hogging down—and thereby you will be cashing in your 1915 corn at the sky-high prices while the market still trails after Old Jupiter. Too much corn is planted in Missouri that is later and longer than our season—especially is this true when the season fails to turn out ideally!

"Without wasting a word, let me declare the cheapest seed corn may turn out to be the highest priced. Plant good seed—really trust-worthy seed of your own or from reliable growers or dealers. For the first hogging down patch plant the extra early corn as soon as the soil is warm enough to germinate the king of money crops.

"Along with this early corn, plant a gallon or so of cowpeas or soy-beans. For myself, experience has led me to prefer an early variety of soy-beans—Austin, Early Black Dwarf or any of the reliable early varieties.

"I plant the corn in drills, then with the same planter, follow the same track and drill in the cowpeas or soy-beans; it would really be a saving to buy an attachment for the planter and plant both corn and peas (or beans) at the same time.

"Give this corn as near level cultivation as the season will permit—and at the last plowing sow five to seven pounds of rape. The corn, being a small variety, will not heavily shade the ground as a rule, so the soy-beans or cowpeas and rape will get plenty of sunshine and air, and all will come along together like a bunch of meadow larks in wheat stubble.

"As all who have tried it agree, by hogging down this feed you get the manure evenly distributed over the field and every corn plant, rape, soy-bean and cowpea plant is returned to that specific part of the field that produced it, in a much better way than can be done by the most up-to-date manure spreader—all without labor and all to a profit!

"The size of the plot can be regulated in reference to the number of hogs By establishing a strong solid post at each corner the corn stalks can be used as intermediate posts to hold up the woven wire. A hog with access to such pasture is going to eat and thrive and spend little or no time in trying to break fences. Such a hog heaven needs little or no fence around it!

"There is another material advantage in planting the ninety-day variety of corn in any portion of Missouri where the soil has not the maximum of moisture-holding capacity. The moisture accumulated from the fall, winter and early spring rains will make this early corn and get it out of the way of the always to be dreaded dry spell that too often arrives the latter part of July or in the month of August.

"The corn will furnish the fat producing element, the cowpeas or soy-beans the bone and muscle making element, and the rape the tender succulent pasture—hog-heaven, in fact!

"I know by experience this is a very sound farm practice, having tried it to my entire satisfaction. It will save the labor of gathering and feeding the crop, will help to keep up the soil fertility, and eliminate the necessity of buying high priced hog feed and hiring extra farm help.

"The main corn crop should be planted to the varieties that do best in your section as shown by successful practice year after year—the varieties that the local corn growers find best adapted to the local soil and climatic conditions.

"The Missouri farmer is profiting mightily by meetings for the exchange of practical experiences—a farmers' institute is at its best when every farmer present feels free to give and take, to ask and be asked, helping one's neighbor and receving new tricks in return. Farmers, like bankers, are planning to make every dollar, every acre, every hoof, earn its salt—truly we are our brother's keeper (and he is our keeper) for better ways of making money on the farm these days—and one way is the hog-heaven route!"

Letter to Mr. S. G. Gillam,
Maryville, Mo.

Dear Sir: As your business is to get people into and out of trouble, suppose you consider their paint; it makes 'em almost as much trouble as money, except of course matrimony.

They buy poor paint a good deal; they don't mean to; they don't know any better; they buy without thinking. Bad paint isn't good. It looks good enough for a year; then begins to get rusty; but changes so slowly one don't notice it.

Looking isn't all. The business of paint is to keep a house dry inside, the wood and iron of it; keep it from rotting and rusting. Takes good paint to do it.

Good and bad paint are sold at one price or about that. One can't go by the price at all; as with lawyers, the price has nothing to do with goodness or badness; and costs are worse yet; the painter and sheriff come-in for their share.

But the probability is that a man, who paints Devoe, will come out on top. Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & CO.,

MAY BORROW M. U. BOOKS.

Greater Facilities for Work Provided in New Library Building at Columbia.

In the new library building which is now being completed at the University of Missouri, one room will be set aside for the use of assistant librarians who send out books to the people of the state. Missourians may write to the librarian and borrow any book or books in the university library, except reference books and fiction. More than one hundred thousand volumes will be available. Books will be sent either direct or to libraries which will lend them to individuals.

In the last year books have been sent to 200 out-of-town borrowers, representing 102 towns. This is in addition to numerous package libraries for debating teams. Persons who so desire may borrow package libraries on agricultural subjects. This material has to do with the raising of crops and live stock, and with domestic economy. Borrowers are only required to pay the cost of mailing or express.

The book stacks in the new library building will hold 250,000 volumes. When the two additional wings which are to be added to the structure are completed the capacity of the stacks will be raised to 500,000 volumes. The new building is constructed of Bedford cut stone with Georgia granite trimmings. It is fireproof throughout. The wall of the stack rooms are of gray enameled brick.

The Missouri State Historical society will have offices and a spacious reading room on the first floor. All the books of this society will be stacked in the building. The new library building will be occupied about August 1.

JURY CALLS IT WHOLESALE MURDER

Verdict In Lusitania Case Brings Charge Against Germany.

Kinsela, Ireland, May 11.—The verdict rendered by the coroner's jury which investigated the deaths resulting from the torpedoing of the Lusitania follows:

"We find that the deceased met death from prolonged immersion and exhaustion in the sea eight miles south-southwest of Oldhead, off Kinsela, Friday, May 7, 1915, owing to the sinking of the Lusitania by torpedoes fired by a German submarine.

"We find that this appaling crime was committed contrary to international law and the conventions of all civilized nations.

"We charge the officers of said submarine, and the emperor and government of Germany, under whose orders they acted, with the crime of wholesale murder before the tribunal of the civilized world.

"We express sincere condolence and sympathies to the relatives of the deceased, the Cunard company and the United States, many of whose citizens perished in this murderous attack on an unarmed liner."

LUSITANIA NOT CONVOYED

Admiralty Does Not Make Practice of Escorting Merchantmen.

London, May 11.—The first lord of the admiralty, Winston Spencer Churchill, stated in the house of commons that Captain Turner of the Lusitania had acknowledged receipt of messages from the admiralty giving him warning and directions for the course he was to take.

"The admiralty had general knowledge of the German warning issued in America," Mr. Churchill declared. "And from that knowledge and other information concerning submarine movements it sent warnings to the Lusitania and directions as to its course."

Mr. Churchill, replying to further questions, spoke as follows:

"The shocking exception of the Lusitania should not divert the attention of the country from the fact that Great Britain's entire seaport trade has been carried on without appreciative loss. The general principle regarding the providing of an escort is, that merchant traffic must look after itself, subject to the general arrangements of the admiralty, and there is no reason to suppose that this principle is not entirely successful."

GERMANS HOLD PALESTINE

In Jerusalem Alone There Are Now 4,000 Prussian Officers.

London, May 11.—"Palestine is now a German province in the fullest sense of the word," says Dr. Edmond Pasternak, for many years a practicing physician in Jerusalem, who was only recently released by the Turkish authorities and allowed to return to Europe.

"In Jerusalem alone," he told an interviewer, who met him on his arrival, "there are upwards of 4,000 Prussian officers, officials and physicians. Practically every company in the Turkish army is commanded by a German officer."

Many Americans Leaving Germany.

Geneva, Switzerland, May 11.—A news dispatch received here from Basel, says a number of American citizens, mostly business men, are arriving there from Germany, where they will await developments in the relations between the United States and Germany.

YOUTH'S CLUBS ARE POPULAR.

Agricultural College Faculty Organizing Boys and Girls in Various Enterprises

Every boy and girl in Missouri may become a member of one of the boys' and girls' clubs organized by the agricultural extension service, College of Agriculture, Columbia. During the last year, 3,423 boys and girls were enrolled in this work. New clubs are being organized each day and the field of work is enlarging rapidly.

One may become a member of three clubs, but it is advisable to do the work in only one or two. The following clubs are now organized and doing good work: Pig club, Corn club, Tomato club, Stock Judging club, Sewing club and Poultry club. New clubs in canning and bread making will be organized soon.

These clubs are supplied with literature from the agricultural extension service free of charge. The members of each club meet at least once a month and compare notes, discuss the literature received and have a general good time afterwards.

It requires six people to organize a club. However, where it is not possible to enroll in a club, the boys and girls may do the regular work and have the same privileges as regular club members, if they will fill out an enrollment card and follow the circulars of instruction.

In recognition of the work done, liberal prizes are offered in the different clubs for various activities. The corn club conducts an acre yield contest and the boys growing the most corn per acre receive liberal cash rewards. The boy growing the best acre of corn will receive $25 in cash, second best, $15, third $10, fourth $7.50 and fifth $5. To become a member of a corn club, must grow at least one acre of corn. By doing this, he also becomes a junior member of the Missouri Corn Growers' Association.

Other prizes are offered by other clubs. Most of these prizes will be awarded next January during Farmers' week.

GERMANY VOICES REGRET TO U. S.

Expresses Sympathy For American Dead on Lusitania.

PUTS BLAME ON GREAT BRITAIN

Berlin Foreign Office Says British Merchantmen Are Armed and Asserts Sunken Liner Carried War Material—Sorry Warning Unheeded.

Berlin, May 11.—The following dispatch has been sent by the German foreign office to the German embassy at Washington:

"Please communicate the following to the state department: The German government desires to express its deepest sympathy at the loss of lives on board the Lusitania. The responsibility rests, however, with the British government, which, through its plan of starving the civilian population of Germany, has forced Germany to resort to retaliatory measures.

"In spite of the German offer to stop the submarine war in case the starvation plan was given up, British merchant vessels are being generally armed with guns and have repeatedly tried to ram submarines, so that a previous search was impossible.

"They cannot, therefore, be treated as ordinary merchant vessels. A recent declaration made to the British parliament by the parliamentary secretary, in answer to a question by Lord Charles Beresford, said that at the present practically all British merchant vessels were armed and provided with hand grenades.

"Besides, it has been openly admitted by the English press that the Lusitania on previous voyages repeatedly carried large quantities of war material. On the present voyage the Lusitania carried 5,400 cases of ammunition, while the rest of the cargo also consisted chiefly of contraband.

"If England, after repeated official and unofficial warnings, considered itself able to declare that that boat ran no risk and thus lightheartedly assumed responsibility for the human life on board a steamer which, owing to its armament and cargo was liable to destruction, the German government, in spite of its heartfelt sympathy for the loss of American lives, cannot but regret that Americans left more inclined to trust English promises rather than to pay attention to the warnings from the German side."

LUSITANIA CASE NOT CLOSED

Perfunctory Regrets by Germany Not Sufficient.

Washington, May 11.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, expressed in person to Secretary Bryan "his deep regrets that the events of the war had led to the loss of so many American lives." The phrases used were those of the ambassador in a written statement given out after his call.

Whether the expression was made on instructions from his government or his own initiative was not made clear by the ambassador nor explained by Mr. Bryan. Inasmuch as it was the first statement of its kind since American lives were lost on the British steamer Falaba and the American steamer Gulflight—which also were torpedoed—and no specific mention was made of the Lusitania incident, the impression prevailed in official quarters that the ambassador's statement was the usual broad expression which diplomatic representatives are permitted to make when a disaster occurs to the citizens of a friendly country.

The action of the German ambassador, however, will have little effect on the policy to be pursed, it was said, unless the German government makes formal apology for the loss of Americans on the Lusitania and promises reparation.

BOOSTERS IN SPECIAL TRAIN MAKE HOUR'S STOP.

COME TO MAKE TRADE NOT TO STEAL BUSINESS

Trip Manager Says Representatives of Wholesale Houses and Factories Would Aid Retailer.

Fifty representatives of wholesale dry goods, hats, shoes, furniture, grocery, drugs, electric supplies, clothing millinery and hardware houses and seven of the largest banks of St. Louis arrived here about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on a special trade excursion train. They remained in the city about an hour, then left for other towns on the trade trip, the next stop being at Burlington Junction They were due to arrive there at 3:30 o'clock and remain until 4 o'clock.

The train the St. Louis business men are traveling in is a dandy and well equipped. It was chartered by the Business Men's League of St. Louis for a six days' trip through northern Missouri and southern Iowa. It is in charge of Robert E. Lee, secretary of the salesmanagers' bureau of the league and by Earl D. Eddy, chairman of the trade extension committee of the salesmanagers' bureau.

The train consists of three sleepers, a dining car, a baggage car and a lounging car.

No Retailers on Trip.

Seymour's Military band of ten pieces is accompanying the trade boosters and giving a concert at each stop. The concert here proved to be well given and was much enjoyed by the audience. The party left St. Louis at 7 o'clock yesterday morning and expect to return Saturday night. Forty-two stops will be made. Night stops are scheduled at Chillicothe, and Red Oak, Des Moines, Burlington and Centerville, Ia. They remained at Chillicothe last night and will stop tonight at Red Oak.

The purpose of the excursion is for the heads of the big St. Louis houses to get into close personal touch with the retail merchants of the towns they visit. There are no retailers in the excursion.

"Every man on the train with us is a wholesaler or manufacturer representing dry goods, shoes, hats, clothing, wire rope, banks, etc.," said R. E. Lee, trip manager. "We are not trying to sell anything on this trip, but merely wish to get better acquainted with the merchants. In truth, we are here to try to convince them that St. Louis has some of the best and most energetic and most likeable wholesalers and manufacturers in the world."

A representative of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Globe-Democrat and the Republic accompanies the train. Mr. Lee is representing the Post-Dispatch. One convenience of many provided for the week's trip is the installation of telephones in each coach of the train, so the train manager can call the engineer or any of the tourists at any time. Arrangements also were made by the boosters to provide connections to call St. Louis a twenty stops on the trip.

Bar Spirituous Liquors.

One other action of the business men was to bar all spirituous liquors from the train before leaving. In fact, they adopted "a buttermilk rule" absolutely. It was first intended to visit southeast and part of southwest Missouri, but later the change to northern Missouri and southern Iowa was decided on.

The St. Louis trade excursionists were met at the Wabash passenger station here by members of the Commercial club in automobiles and escorted uptown, where each member of the party went where he chose. No attempt at entertaining the visitors was made, as each desired to visit such retail merchants as his business affected most. Instead the visitors entertained the hosts with a band concert.

Laud City and County.

Many compliments to Maryville and Nodaway county in general were paid by the visitors, and the promise to come again as soon as possible was made. The various merchants and business men were invited to call on the visitors at their St. Louis establishments whenever in that city. All in all, the St. Louis boosters were a jolly bunch of good fellows of the business-like sort.

Among those in the party are:

James A. Houchin, L. K. Wise, Guy N. Hitchcock, James Cunningham, Earl D. Eddy, W. G. Barry, Phil A. Becker, John K. Broderick, Lee Osterhaus, B. B. O'Brien, Richard Taylor, A. H. Kaufman, Charles Reese, Jr., Alex C. Smith, W. H. Spain, A. F. Culkin, George R. Merrill, F. D. Phillips, R. J. Kickiss, Frank Wielandy, W. B. Taylor, Ralph McKittrick, Davis Elsman, Jr., Jesse Carlton, R. D. Corlett, Charles P. Ladd, S. J. Bennett, G. W. Dahlman, Stuart Campbell, A. V. Meyer, G. C. Martin, Jr., Robert E. Lee, Louis W. Fasterlin, Harry Block, H. S. Tuttle, Sam Young, William H. Pape, A. W. Gray, W. H. Bloomer, George E. Cullinan, J. H. Robinson, Edward Tracy, W. H. Ball, Carl H. Schlapp, E. W. Purcell and Harry Fellows.

A special meeting of the city council street committee, consisting of Councilmen M. A. Peery, Bert Raines and Ed Dragoo, will be held in the office of the Sisson Loan and Title company at 7:30 o'clock tonight, to examine the various paving remonstrances and decide what action to take relative to that proposition at the special council meeting tomorrow night. The conference will be solely to discuss paving.

That the statement of the Wabash railroad that the Fifth street crossing at Dunn street is private property of the railroad company was without proof is the consensus of opinion of the councilmen now. An investigation conducted by Mr. Peery and City Engineer F. L. Flynt has disclosed that records show Fifth street crossing to have been a public one in 1875, when that street was laid out, and that the Wabash did not extend its switch tracks along there until five years later, or in 1880.

May Pave 4 Streets.

No further records show that any transfer was made, it is said. If this be true, then Fifth street from Market street west six blocks to Dunn street may be paved.

Ninth, from Mulberry west to the Normal grounds, also is in line for paving. Appearances also indicate that Thompson street from Walnut east four blocks to Main street, and Mulberry street from Ninth to Twelfth also can be paved over the remonstrances. A remonstrance was circulated on each of these streets, and a great quantity of names signed thereto, but an investigation has disclosed that many did not have any right to sign the remonstrances, it is said.

The matter of appointing a city clerk and another fireman also will come up for consideration at tomorrom night's session.

ALLIES ARE MOVING FORWARD.

German Headquarters Admits That Enemy Makes Gain.

London, May 11.—In the land campaign in France and Belgium there are intimations of a strong movement of the allies against the Germans with heavy reinforcements. The French war office reports the capture of many prisoners and guns during the last two days and German headquarters admit that in the neighborhood of Carency the allies have succeeded in occupying the foremost German trenches. The attacks and counter attacks are continuous and the losses on both sides are heavy.

In the Carpathians the Germans are reported to be making preparations for a further movement against the Russians in their new positions.

While all advices indicate that Italy is ready to take decisive action and that the time limit fixed for Austria's reply to the Italian demands has expired, no word has come of a break between the Austrian and Italian governments.

A. A. Wiley Finds Government Weather Gauger on Farm—Drifted from Omaha.

A queer looking contraption, similar to the balloons that flew at the county fairs years ago, was found at the south end of his farm yesterday by A. A. Wiley, a farmer living seven miles northwest of Maryville. It had been sent out by the government weather observers at Omaha, the label stated. Mr. Wiley sent the balloon to Washington yesterday afternoon as instructed.

It consisted of a small basket, containing the weather gauging apparatus, a rubber bag for containing the air, and yards and yards of fine cord holding the balloon bag and basket together. It had been sent from Omaha Saturday and evidently had alighted on the Wiley farm yesterday morning.

UNITED STATES IS ABOVE WAR, PRESIDENT HINTS.

BE EXAMPLE TO NATIONS

Philadelphia, May 11.—President Wilson delivered an address here to a reception tendered 4,000 newly naturalized citizens.

The station was densely crowded when the president arrived. As he passed along the guard of police cheers went up from the assembled crowd. Mr. Wilson acknowledge them with smiles. He was escorted up Broad street by the mounted city troops of Philadelphia.

The street was lined with automobile loads of people, who shouted a noisy welcome. Thousands of people lined the walks. The handclapping and cheering were a most constant. Women waved handkerchiefs from the windows and balconies and everywhere the reception given the nation's chief magistrate was one of enthusiasm and warmth. He bowed, raised his hat and smiled gratefully.

When the president reached Convention hall, he was escorted to a seat by Mayor Blankenburg. He found Secretaries Wilson and Daniels on the platform. The hall was densely packed.

A sudden, spontaneous outburst of applause greeted the president when he arose to speak. Everyone present leaped up, waving American flags. Waves of cheers broke over the hall, rising and falling. He bowed time and again, smiling his acknowledgment of his reception. As he rose, the band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

President Wilson, in his address, gave the first intimation of what course the United States government will pursue in the situation resulting from the loss of more than a hundred lives on the British liner Lusitania.

He spoke by implication, but his hearers interpreted his remarks as meaning that while the United States would remain at peace, it would seek to convince Germany of the injustice to mankind of the tragedy of Friday.

Example of Peace.

"America," said the president, "must have the consciousness that on all sides it touches elbows and touches hearts with all nations of mankind. The example of America must be a special example, not merely of peace, because it will not fight, but because peace is a healing and elevating influence in the world and strife is not.

"There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right."

Those remarks precipitated a tumult of applause and patriotic enthusiasm, attended by a waving of thousands of small American flags. The president made no direct reference to the Lusitania tragedy, but the audience did not hesitate to read the application of his statement.

The sentiment expressed in the president's speech was epitomized later by one of his closest advisers as "humanity first." While it had not yet been determined, he said, exactly what steps would be taken by the United States in the present crisis the idea uppermost in the president's mind was to show that whatever course is adopted—no matter how vigorous—it will have as its objective the good of humanity.

Iowa Visitors Return.

The Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Myers of Lewis, Ia., came to Maryville Monday in their auto and visited until this afternoon with Mrs. Myers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Lucas. They expected to make a longer visit but were summoned home by the death of one of Mr. Lewis' parishioners.

WON'T TAKE TOWNSHIP OFFICE.

Mark Loucks, Skidmore, Wants Someone to Be Justice of the Peace.

To have the position of justice of the peace thrust upon one and then to deliberately turn around and try to get someone to take it off one's hands seems like fiction, but such is the case in Monroe township. A petition signed by seven citizens of Skidmore, among them being Mark Loucks, was presented today to County Clerk Fred Yeomans, asking the county court to appoint someone to take Loucks' place as justice of Monroe township.

Stratford Saunders and Loucks were elected to that office March 30. Saunders qualified but Loucks did not. So now the petitioners want the court to appoint Henry Miller in Loucks' place. Miller and John Mast were formerly justices of that township.

The county court will probably consider the petition when it meets again, May 17.

Final Evangelistic Services Resulted in 84 Conversions—Aid All Denominations—Baptists Got Most.

Revival Results.

	Conversions	Additions
First Baptist	385	320

First Methodist	104	103

*Estimated

Six hundred and nine persons have become members of one of the five Protestant churches of Maryville since January 1, as a result of the revivals each church has held, in that time, or otherwise, according to statistics furnished today by the pastors of the various churches. Of that number 503 resulted directly from the evangelistic campaigns.

In addition to this great work accomplished by religious campaigns carried on within the last four and one-half months, several hundred more promised to lead better lives and aid more in church and all religious work in the city. Besides increasing the church membership and thereby directly strengthening the various denominations here, the police records show crime in the city has decreased since January 1, and the general upbuilding of the morality of the city has been noticeable since that time.

All Praise Religious Work.

City and county officials, almost as one, praise the religious work that has been carried on here, while business men, are virtually combined in a commendation of the movements. While the exact benefit accomplished by the revivals, can not be more than estimated, the following figures are furnished by the various Protestant pastors, to show how it has aided the church membership:

First Baptist—Professions of conversion, 385; membership resulting, 300; membership increase since then, 20; evangelist, A. E. Burch. Time of revival, six weeks, during January and first half of February.

Buchanan Street Methodist—Conversions, 8; addition to membership as result of revival, 14; additions since then, 7; evangelist, W. B. Lewellyn. Time of revival, two weeks, in January.

First Christian—Conversions, estimated at 110; members added as result of revival, 116; total number of members added since January; 130; evangelist, Charles Finch. Time, one month, in March.

First Methodists Added 103.

First Presbyterian—Conversions, 15; added members as result of revival, 20; total added since January 1, 35; evangelist, S. D. Harkness, pastor. Time, ten days, in March and April.

First Mehodist—Conversions, 104; members added as result of revival, 53; total added since January 1, 103; evangelist, Thurston B. Price. Time three weeks, in last half of April and first of May. First Methodist revival also resulted in three expressing a desire to become affiliated with the First Christian church, three with the Buchanan Street Mehodist church and four with the First Baptist church.

Evangelist Price and singer, C. N. Guice received $656 for their three weeks work through subscriptions made by church members and others during the closing of the revival.

CARE OF NEW HATCHED CHICKS.

Agricultural Station Advises More Study for Young Poultry.

"Millions of chickens are lost each year because of improper methods of feeding, says H. L. Kempster of the Missouri agricultural experiment station. Some of this loss can be prevented by using the plan of raising chicks which has been worked out by the poultry department of the University of Missouri," He says.

"Chicks should not be fed until they are 48 hours old and then should receive nothing but fine, white grit. This stimulates the digestive organs and prepares them for food which is to follow. The next feeding should be a mixture of three parts finely cracked wheat, three parts finely cracked corn and one part steel cut oats, fed dry.

"Some of this mixture or commercial chick food should be in the litter at all times so as to encourage the chicks to exercise.

"Twice daily the chicks should receive rolled oats or a mixture of three parts bread crumbs, three parts corn bread and one part boiled egg. This mixture may be fed dry, or it may be slightly dampened with sour milk. Young chicks should always have access to clean drinking water or, if possible, some skim milk or buttermilk. These should be kept in a vessel so constructed that the chicks cannot get themselves wet.

HITTING the TRAIL of TRUTH

Sometimes the hardest thing to put over is Truth. An evil condition which has been hanging around for a long, long time grows familiar and is embraced as an old friend, while it should be taken by the scruff of the neck and the slack of the pants and kicked down the back stairs.

HOGGING THE CORN PATCH.

Farmers Are Advised to Try Method This Season.

W. D. McKee, the "Alfalfa Bill" of the Farmers' Institutes of the Missouri Board of Agriculture, is best known as an alfalfa missionary. However, he has a dozen lectures based on his experiences as a successful farm owner in Ray county where he and his son profitably practice what he preaches.

Mack (alias "alfalfa bill") is a practical preacher of the doctrine of the "hog-heaven" where all good hogs should go—and that is the path to the early corn patch for hogging down—patch or patches according to how deep you are in the hog game! He holds that the early corn patch is the ideal moving picture entertainment for the king of mortgage lifters.

Mr. McKee believes the present signs point to high prices on corn, at least until the 1315 crop goes onto the market. As legislation provides for an emergency clause, the money-making farmer resorts to practices that help him tide over the high places without having to buy much of the "cat's-back" feeds. He reports on Missouri needs along this line.

"This is a year when the far-sighted farmer will make the most of the possibilities of planting patches of from early to late corn for hogging down.

"Promptly planted 90-day corn (the real thing) will ripen sufficiently early for hogging down—and thereby you will be cashing in your 1915 corn at the sky-high prices while the market still trails after Old Jupiter. Too much corn is planted in Missouri that is later and longer than our season—especially is this true when the season fails to turn out ideally!

"Without wasting a word, let me declare the cheapest seed corn may turn out to be the highest priced. Plant good seed—really trust-worthy seed of your own or from reliable growers or dealers. For the first hogging down patch plant the extra early corn as soon as the soil is warm enough to germinate the king of money crops.

"Along with this early corn, plant a gallon or so of cowpeas or soy-beans. For myself, experience has led me to prefer an early variety of soy-beans—Austin, Early Black Dwarf or any of the reliable early varieties.

"I plant the corn in drills, then with the same planter, follow the same track and drill in the cowpeas or soy-beans; it would really be a saving to buy an attachment for the planter and plant both corn and peas (or beans) at the same time.

"Give this corn as near level cultivation as the season will permit—and at the last plowing sow five to seven pounds of rape. The corn, being a small variety, will not heavily shade the ground as a rule, so the soy-beans or cowpeas and rape will get plenty of sunshine and air, and all will come along together like a bunch of meadow larks in wheat stubble.

"As all who have tried it agree, by hogging down this feed you get the manure evenly distributed over the field and every corn plant, rape, soy-bean and cowpea plant is returned to that specific part of the field that produced it, in a much better way than can be done by the most up-to-date manure spreader—all without labor and all to a profit!

"The size of the plot can be regulated in reference to the number of hogs By establishing a strong solid post at each corner the corn stalks can be used as intermediate posts to hold up the woven wire. A hog with access to such pasture is going to eat and thrive and spend little or no time in trying to break fences. Such a hog heaven needs little or no fence around it!

"There is another material advantage in planting the ninety-day variety of corn in any portion of Missouri where the soil has not the maximum of moisture-holding capacity. The moisture accumulated from the fall, winter and early spring rains will make this early corn and get it out of the way of the always to be dreaded dry spell that too often arrives the latter part of July or in the month of August.

"The corn will furnish the fat producing element, the cowpeas or soy-beans the bone and muscle making element, and the rape the tender succulent pasture—hog-heaven, in fact!

"I know by experience this is a very sound farm practice, having tried it to my entire satisfaction. It will save the labor of gathering and feeding the crop, will help to keep up the soil fertility, and eliminate the necessity of buying high priced hog feed and hiring extra farm help.

"The main corn crop should be planted to the varieties that do best in your section as shown by successful practice year after year—the varieties that the local corn growers find best adapted to the local soil and climatic conditions.

"The Missouri farmer is profiting mightily by meetings for the exchange of practical experiences—a farmers' institute is at its best when every farmer present feels free to give and take, to ask and be asked, helping one's neighbor and receving new tricks in return. Farmers, like bankers, are planning to make every dollar, every acre, every hoof, earn its salt—truly we are our brother's keeper (and he is our keeper) for better ways of making money on the farm these days—and one way is the hog-heaven route!"

Letter to Mr. S. G. Gillam,
Maryville, Mo.

Dear Sir: As your business is to get people into and out of trouble, suppose you consider their paint; it makes 'em almost as much trouble as money, except of course matrimony.

They buy poor paint a good deal; they don't mean to; they don't know any better; they buy without thinking. Bad paint isn't good. It looks good enough for a year; then begins to get rusty; but changes so slowly one don't notice it.

Looking isn't all. The business of paint is to keep a house dry inside, the wood and iron of it; keep it from rotting and rusting. Takes good paint to do it.

Good and bad paint are sold at one price or about that. One can't go by the price at all; as with lawyers, the price has nothing to do with goodness or badness; and costs are worse yet; the painter and sheriff come-in for their share.

But the probability is that a man, who paints Devoe, will come out on top.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.,

MAY BORROW M. U. BOOKS.

Greater Facilities for Work Provided in New Library Building at Columbia.

In the new library building which is now being completed at the University of Missouri, one room will be set aside for the use of assistant librarians who send out books to the people of the state. Missourians may write to the librarian and borrow any book or books in the university library, except reference books and fiction. More than one hundred thousand volumes will be available. Books will be sent either direct or to libraries which will lend them to individuals.

In the last year books have been sent to 200 out-of-town borrowers, representing 102 towns. This is in addition to numerous package libraries for debating teams. Persons who so desire may borrow package libraries on agricultural subjects. This material has to do with the raising of crops and live stock, and with domestic economy. Borrowers are only required to pay the cost of mailing or express.

The book stacks in the new library building will hold 250,000 volumes. When the two additional wings which are to be added to the structure are completed the capacity of the stacks will be raised to 500,000 volumes. The new building is constructed of Bedford cut stone with Georgia granite trimmings. It is fireproof throughout. The wall of the stack rooms are of gray enameled brick.

The Missouri State Historical society will have offices and a spacious reading room on the first floor. All the books of this society will be stacked in the building. The new library building will be occupied about August 1.

Verdict In Lusitania Case Brings Charge Against Germany.

Kinsela, Ireland, May 11.—The verdict rendered by the coroner's jury which investigated the deaths resulting from the torpedoing of the Lusitania follows:

"We find that the deceased met death from prolonged immersion and exhaustion in the sea eight miles south-southwest of Oldhead, off Kinsela, Friday, May 7, 1915, owing to the sinking of the Lusitania by torpedoes fired by a German submarine.

"We find that this appaling crime was committed contrary to international law and the conventions of all civilized nations.

"We charge the officers of said submarine, and the emperor and government of Germany, under whose orders they acted, with the crime of wholesale murder before the tribunal of the civilized world.

"We express sincere condolence and sympathies to the relatives of the deceased, the Cunard company and the United States, many of whose citizens perished in this murderous attack on an unarmed liner."

LUSITANIA NOT CONVOYED

Admiralty Does Not Make Practice of Escorting Merchantmen.

London, May 11.—The first lord of the admiralty, Winston Spencer Churchill, stated in the house of commons that Captain Turner of the Lusitania had acknowledged receipt of messages from the admiralty giving him warning and directions for the course he was to take.

"The admiralty had general knowledge of the German warning issued in America," Mr. Churchill declared. "And from that knowledge and other information concerning submarine movements it sent warnings to the Lusitania and directions as to its course."

Mr. Churchill, replying to further questions, spoke as follows:

"The shocking exception of the Lusitania should not divert the attention of the country from the fact that Great Britain's entire seaport trade has been carried on without appreciative loss. The general principle regarding the providing of an escort is, that merchant traffic must look after itself, subject to the general arrangements of the admiralty, and there is no reason to suppose that this principle is not entirely successful."

GERMANS HOLD PALESTINE

In Jerusalem Alone There Are Now 4,000 Prussian Officers.

London, May 11.—"Palestine is now a German province in the fullest sense of the word," says Dr. Edmond Pasternak, for many years a practicing physician in Jerusalem, who was only recently released by the Turkish authorities and allowed to return to Europe.

"In Jerusalem alone," he told an interviewer, who met him on his arrival, "there are upwards of 4,000 Prussian officers, officials and physicians. Practically every company in the Turkish army is commanded by a German officer."

Many Americans Leaving Germany.

Geneva, Switzerland, May 11.—A news dispatch received here from Basel, says a number of American citizens, mostly business men, are arriving there from Germany, where they will await developments in the relations between the United States and Germany.

YOUTH'S CLUBS ARE POPULAR.

Every boy and girl in Missouri may become a member of one of the boys' and girls' clubs organized by the agricultural extension service, College of Agriculture, Columbia. During the last year, 3,423 boys and girls were enrolled in this work. New clubs are being organized each day and the field of work is enlarging rapidly.

One may become a member of three clubs, but it is advisable to do the work in only one or two. The following clubs are now organized and doing good work: Pig club, Corn club, Tomato club, Stock Judging club, Sewing club and Poultry club. New clubs in canning and bread making will be organized soon.

These clubs are supplied with literature from the agricultural extension service free of charge. The members of each club meet at least once a month and compare notes, discuss the literature received and have a general good time afterwards.

It requires six people to organize a club. However, where it is not possible to enroll in a club, the boys and girls may do the regular work and have the same privileges as regular club members, if they will fill out an enrollment card and follow the circulars of instruction.

In recognition of the work done, liberal prizes are offered in the different clubs for various activities. The corn club conducts an acre yield contest and the boys growing the most corn per acre receive liberal cash rewards. The boy growing the best acre of corn will receive $25 in cash, second best, $15, third $10, fourth $7.50 and fifth $5. To become a member of a corn club, must grow at least one acre of corn. By doing this, he also becomes a junior member of the Missouri Corn Growers' Association.

Other prizes are offered by other clubs. Most of these prizes will be awarded next January during Farmers' week.

BOYS HAVE PIG FEEDING CLUBS.

Lafayette and Clay County Youths Use Heads in Live Stock Rearing.

Over in Lafayette and Clay counties a number of Missouri boys are practicing the strictest economy in feeding pigs. Every day they carefully record the amount of feed given the hogs, and their own total hours or minutes of labor. These boys belong to the pig feeding clubs which are being organized throughout the state by the college of agriculture of the University of Missouri. The clubs in these two counties are the first to be organized.

The object of the pig clubs is to practice the most economical methods of feeding pigs, and at the same time produce the greatest amount of pork possible.

One of the features of the work will be a contest to see which boy can feed pigs so as to produce the greatest number of pounds of pork at the least cost. The pigs are to be fed from weaning time until sold or killed for pork. Prizes will be given to the boys whose pigs make the best gain. The contest is open to all Missouri boys between the ages of 10 and 18 years.

GERMANY VOICES REGRET TO U. S.

Expresses Sympathy For American Dead on Lusitania.

PUTS BLAME ON GREAT BRITAIN

Berlin, May 11.—The following dispatch has been sent by the German foreign office to the German embassy at Washington:

"Please communicate the following to the state department: The German government desires to express its deepest sympathy at the loss of lives on board the Lusitania. The responsibility rests, however, with the British government, which, through its plan of starving the civilian population of Germany, has forced Germany to resort to retaliatory measures.

"In spite of the German offer to stop the submarine war in case the starvation plan was given up, British merchant vessels are being generally armed with guns and have repeatedly tried to ram submarines, so that a previous search was impossible.

"They cannot, therefore, be treated as ordinary merchant vessels. A recent declaration made to the British parliament by the parliamentary secretary, in answer to a question by Lord Charles Beresford, said that at the present practically all British merchant vessels were armed and provided with hand grenades.

"Besides, it has been openly admitted by the English press that the Lusitania on previous voyages repeatedly carried large quantities of war material. On the present voyage the Lusitania carried 5,400 cases of ammunition, while the rest of the cargo also consisted chiefly of contraband.

"If England, after repeated official and unofficial warnings, considered itself able to declare that that boat ran no risk and thus light heartedly assumed responsibility for the human life on board a steamer which, owing to its armament and cargo was liable to destruction, the German government, in spite of its heartfelt sympathy for the loss of American lives, cannot but regret that Americans left more inclined to trust English promises rather than to pay attention to the warnings from the German side."

LUSITANIA CASE NOT CLOSED

Perfunctory Regrets by Germany Not Sufficient.

Washington, May 11.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, expressed in person to Secretary Bryan "his deep regrets that the events of the war had led to the loss of so many American lives." The phrases used were those of the ambassador in a written statement given out after his call.

Whether the expression was made on instructions from his government or his own initiative was not made clear by the ambassador nor explained by Mr. Bryan. Inasmuch as it was the first statement of its kind since American lives were lost on the British steamer Falaba and the American steamer Gulflight—which also were torpedoed—and no specific mention was made of the Lusitania incident, the impression prevailed in official quarters that the ambassador's statement was the usual broad expression which diplomatic representatives are permitted to make when a disaster occurs to the citizens of a friendly country.

The action of the German ambassador, however, will have little effect on the policy to be pursed, it was said, unless the German government makes formal apology for the loss of Americans on the Lusitania and promises reparation.
